Dear Mr Macready

Did I ask you in a recent note to send the Auto Harvey Bugle to Miss Chick, Bristol? And if then be done, will you please to send also send the Liberator to Mr Catterall, of ~~Bootle~~ Bath. Then I ask you to do by Miss Cottons desire. Then sent me the money which I asked you to credit for. The last accounts of Mr E. are not encouraging. He appears to be a good deal shaken and in his strength was never great I fear it is too much to hope for a complete restoration. This is the impression I receive from Miss E's letter - but I know how difficult it is to convey the truth or the fact by a few lines in a case of this kind. I wish you would ask Anne Watson when you see her whether she has received that I owe expected. I suppose not for I have heard from her last from any of the Watsons. They have all cut me dead it is a cruel thing to a body like me who once knew better times Yours ever truly
